

Position Announcement: Three (3) Lecturers in the Department of Communication Studies, University of Georgia.

The Department of Communication Studies seeks applications for three (3) full-time lecturer positions beginning August 1, 2025. These positions are renewable annually with full benefits. The teaching load for this position is four classes in each of the fall and spring semesters.

Successful candidates should be able to teach undergraduate courses in social science approaches to communication, humanities approaches, or both. Successful candidates with a social science orientation should be able to teach introduction to interpersonal communication, small group communication, empirical research methods, interviewing, and/or nonverbal communication. Successful candidates with a humanities orientation should be able to teach introduction to public speaking, business communication, oral decision making, rhetorical criticism, advanced public speaking, and/or case studies in public communication. Candidates should have at least one year of experience teaching interpersonal communication or public speaking.

Ideal candidates will also demonstrate their ability to teach introduction to interpersonal communication or introduction to public speaking in the large lecture format, which includes the mentoring of graduate teaching assistants for breakout sections.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Communication at time of appointment; candidates should have experience teaching interpersonal communication or public speaking; candidates should exhibit excellence in teaching and/or promise of superior teaching reflected in innovative ideas about coursework in social scientific or humanistic approaches to communication.

To apply, visit ugajobsearch.com. Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter 2) curriculum vitae 3) and a teaching portfolio (which must include a teaching philosophy and may include additional materials such as course evaluations, sample syllabi, sample assignments). Candidates should also submit names and contact information for three academic references, who will be asked to provide letters of recommendation if the candidate is selected for an interview. For questions, please contact the search committee via Dr. Bjørn Stillion Southard (bjorn@uga.edu). All applications received by March 9, 2025 will receive full consideration, and review will continue until the position is filled.

The University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation, or protected veteran status. Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR (hrweb@uga.edu).